"Will a bag of money provide the same joy that a plate of food provides.... Definitely not.. We should feel ashamed that we've buried the food tradition.. And day by day we are committing suicide with our own rubbish culture"

The unique Thinking Rotaractors of Agni College of Technology realized today's food culture. We discussed together on creating an impact on the students by teaching them traditional foods of Thanjavur District. We organized an event named Arusuvai. We all gathered to execute this event in our own RTR.AravindRoshan's (Club service director) home. RTR.AravindRoshan's Mother was ready with the requirements to prepare the dishes. Not only his mother but the whole family was very keen in welcoming us. Traditional dishes that she was about to teach were kadappakurma, viraalmeenkulambu, viraalmeenvaruval, with Idly and Rice. She only preferred and used homemade masalas.

We all went to the kitchen. By the time she started cooking we people were keen on recording videos and taking notes. She taught all nooks and corners of her experience in cooking in one class.The dishes that she taught are so famous in Thanjavur District. She enjoyed cooking and She was very brief at explaining ingredients. Once the cooking was done we all assembled in the dining room with a watering mouth. Their family members were happy in serving us. We really had a very good time with their family members. We realized the importance and the taste of our own culture. This event was the favourite one for all of us.
